Vergilian Bibliography 2008-2009

SHIRLEY WERNER

This survey of Vergilian scholarship is the forty-seventh in the Vergilius series. Classical World 68.1 (1974), published in association with The Vergilian Society, Inc., contains Alexander G. McKay's "Recent Work on Vergil: A Bibliographical Survey, 1964-73." Subsequent reviews by Professor McKay appeared in Vergilius 19 (1973)–52 (2005). I have continued the tradition of his work starting with my survey in Vergilius 53 (2006).

The 2008-2009 compilation is indebted to the print and electronic resources of the William R. Perkins Library, Duke University and to those of L'Année philologique. Readers are encouraged to send material or notices to Dr. Werner, the Editor of the Annual Bibliography, at the following address:

Johnston examines references to the cults of Eleusis, Isis, Dionysus, and Cybele in the Georgics. Setaioli considers the philosophical implications of Vergil's reading of Cicero, div. 1.17-22, traceable in Aen. 7.724ff. and Geo. 1. Whittaker feels that Ecl. 4 can in part be understood in light of the influence of the Eleusinian Mysteries on Roman religion.

Moretti observes Horace’s possible allusion to Aen. 11.699-723. Other studies in this section have to do either with intertextuality or with shared themes.
